While on patrol, Officer Andrew Graff observed a traffic violation and conducted vehicle stop in the 400 block of W Sproul Rd. The driver immediately jumped from the vehicle and ran. Officer Graff chased the driver on foot and was able to get close enough to use his Taser. The driver fell to the ground but refused commands to comply. He tossed a bundle of small baggies from his pocket which the officer recognized as illegal narcotics. The driver was able to get to his feet and run a short distance before stopping, turning towards the officer with his fists raised in a fighting posture. Officer Graff was able to take the driver to the ground and secure him in handcuffs. The driver was later identified as Peter Attilio Tamburini, 42 years old from Brookhaven. He was transported to the police station and held for arraignment on charges of Drug Possession, Aggravated Assault, and Resisting Arrest. Tamburini had additional warrants from Delaware County and Camden County, NJ.
